

President's Letter September 2009

I hope everyone enjoyed the meeting in August. This month's demonstrator will be Al Stirt from Enosburg Falls, Vermont. The following information was taken from Alan Stirt's web page and explains his views on woodturning.

I consider myself a "bowl maker" more than a wood turner because, although the turning process fascinates me, it is the resulting bowl that commands my interest. From the earliest times bowls have had meanings for people beyond the purely utilitarian. The bowl as vessel has a resonance deep within the human psyche. I have always thought of each piece that I make as a composition utilizing elements of pattern, line, weight, texture and form. Even in the most simple pieces I try to find a harmony of grain and shape. I seek a balance in my work between the dynamic and the serene. By playing with the tension created by combining the circle's perfection with the energy of pattern I am trying to make pieces that have life. I use patterns, whether created by grain structure or organic fluting & carving or repeated geometric shapes, to develop harmony in each of my pieces. I find myself always looking for a new means of expression within the turned form.

If you have never seen a demo by Al, don't miss this opportunity to experience first hand the teachings of a master turner. Al will also be one of our feature turners at Unicoi this week.

I hope to see a lot of you at Unicoi this week. Don't forget if you are there on Thursday afternoon that there is a lot of work to be done in setting up for the turners. The more people to help the easier and faster it is to get the job done. Don't forget the work that has to be done on Sunday afternoon to break everything down and clean up the rooms.

Danny

Subject: Fair entries as requested

This isn't a lot, but here's what I've done:

Tommy Roland brought an ornament stand that holds five 36 segment ornaments which would have been enough for most people, but he raised the bar by making an extra ornament (segmented of course) as a structural element to hold the brass rods together.

Michael Gibson entered a large, elegant woodburned platter. You gotta see this one!

Wes Jones entered several pieces, including a large (16") boxelder grecian urn with several voids as well as one of his signature "fish bowls" with enlaid mineral fish.

Normand Lavoie entered three stunning organic forms sporting his signature mirror finish. The most spectacular piece, in my opinion, is his "blue haze" piece that looks black until you see it in natural light and it has a beautiful indigo blue background.

Niall Mathiason has entered several unique pieces that include artistic hand made iron supports. One bowl hangs from it's iron support by braided cords. Another piece has three bowls all supported by an iron armature. Yet another is a leaf shape with an iron "stem". Yet another is a deep hollowed "wing" form.

Charles Whittle entered several segmented pieces, both open and closed. All have exceptional finishes and are spectacular pieces.

August 2009 AAW Board Letter

Message from Tom Wirsing

Dear AAW Members,

AAW Symposia, a Major Benefit, and lots of Fun!

Exciting member benefits:

NEW o Six issues of American Woodturner starting in 2010

NEW o Marketing opportunities on our website for artists, collectors and museums

NEW o Group rates for health and life insurance o Merchandise Discounts on AAW products

o Access to Educational Opportunity Grants o AAW Forum and Member-only Access on

www.woodturner.org o Juried exhibit opportunities o International AAW Woodturning Symposium

All of these are very valuable benefits. But if you measure the value of benefits by how much fun they are, the AAW Symposium is the Winner!

The 2009 AAW Symposium was in June in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and it was really fun!

Nearly 1,300 woodturners participated. We had a great slate of world class demonstrators and panelists, and hundreds of individual events. The Instant Gallery had nearly 1000 stunningly beautiful woodturnings. Every major manufacturer of lathes, tools and turning accessories was represented in the Trade Show. <

Three Exhibitions drew thousands of visitors. The Spouse Craft Room was a great success. The Auction at the Banquet raised over $100,000, with net proceeds of $62,825 to benefit the Educational Opportunity Grant program. Special Interest Night discussions included many subjects of interest. And there was much more. All in all, it was great fun!

The 2010 AAW Symposium will be in Hartford, Connecticut June 18 - 20, 2010, and it will be just as much fun as Albuquerque, if not more! We will have a great slate of demonstrators and panelists again, including Hans Weissflog from Germany, Christian Delhon from France, Jimmy Clewes and Joey Richardson from England, Glenn Lucas from Ireland, Graeme Priddle from New Zealand, Michael Fortune from Canada, and a host of demonstrators from the USA, including Trent Bosch, Cindy Drozda, Sharon Doughtie, Mark St. Leger, Peter Bloch, Peter Exton, Stephen Gleasner, John Jordan, Michael Kehs, and more. The call for additional demonstrators is on the AAW web site. To apply to be a demonstrator, visit the AAW web site at www.woodturner.org and submit an application.

Hartford will be a wonderful venue, with a large percentage of the AAW membership within a day's drive, exceptional facilities including the Connecticut Convention Center, many nearby hotels, and a host of points of interest including historic sites, cultural and scenic venues, shopping and restaurants. Don't miss it! It's going to be fun!

See you in Hartford! Where else can you meet and mingle with the greatest, friendliest, and most sharing group of woodturners in the world?

July 2009 AAW Board Letter

Message from Bill Haskell

I'm writing this letter soon after returning from the Albuquerque symposium and a week's trip throughout the picturesque Southwest. By all accounts, the symposium was very successful - it was particularly pleasing to me to meet and talk with so many AAW members and woodturning friends there. Afterwards, my wife and I had the pleasure of enjoying the enchantment of New Mexico and the beauty of Arizona. Truly special and memorable times.

Nearly 1,300 people attended the Albuquerque 2009 symposium - thank you for your interest and support! Ask any attendee to show you their 158-page Demonstrator Handout Book, which is packed with program details and demonstration information, diagrams, and pictures - all in color. This book provides a whole new level of information for those who attended because it's something they can keep and refer to in the future. While they last, these books are for sale on the AAW website.

This Handout Book, like so much of the symposium and other areas of the AAW, was made possible by a volunteer. Hundreds of loyal AAW members worked at the symposium to pull it off successfully. As an example, there were well over 225 volunteers who accomplished hundreds of tasks, including registration, demonstration assistants and videographers, the Instant Gallery, youth programs, merchandise sales, exhibitions room, auctioneers and supporting crew, and many other areas. The host chapter, New Mexico Wood Turners, provided almost a third of the volunteers, including spouses and friends as well as members. The local volunteers had already done a fantastic job before the symposium by helping set up the conference center, gather tools for the demonstrators, and prepare for registration. They also spent many hours at the conclusion cleaning up, packing items to be shipped, and performing a multitude of additional tasks. A sincere and hearty thanks to all who contributed their time and energy to the symposium and to all who give of themselves in so many ways throughout the year to make the AAW such a successful program. And of course, a very special thank you to the AAW staff who put in countless hours both before and after the symposium, as well as long and challenging days during the conference! Your Directors also worked tirelessly to plan and execute the symposium, and of course put out the many "fires" that crop up in an undertaking like this.

At the symposium, the Spouse Craft Room was bigger and better than ever and it was greatly enjoyed. Nine demonstrations were given throughout the three days including a quilt trunk show, pressed flower greeting cards, wood carving, gourd art, beading, chain maille, weaving, scrapbooking (digital and traditional), and machine knitting. In addition to the demos, the room proved to be a great "meet and greet" space for people to work on their own projects. Thanks to the leaders and "crafty" instructors that pulled this off.

As always, the EOG and POP auctions were a great success. The contributions made by both the makers and the buyers are greatly appreciated - they will go a long way in making educational grants and the POP program.

The Board of Directors met for several days before and after the symposium. Some of the more noteworthy issues addressed and decisions made by your board are:

- * The Nominating Committee presented their final selection of six well-qualified candidates for the AAW Board of Directors election this fall.
- * The upcoming fall election of new board members will be done only on paper ballots, discontinuing the use of electronic AAW website ballots.
- * Director Linda VanGehuchten was replaced by Al Hockenbery.
- * The journal editor's decision to remove the stylized portion of the AAW logo from the American Woodturner cover for reasons of artistic and layout simplicity was discussed and supported.
- * A final decision was made to publish six American Woodturner journals a year starting in 2010.
- * The AAW Board agonized over how to deal with increasing AAW operating costs and the additional cost of producing two more Journals a year. Raising the annual membership fee was considered and debated. In recognition of the current economic environment and the number of members on fixed income, the decision was reached to raise the basic membership fee by only $3. This may not be enough to cover next year's higher expenses, but the board is taking on the challenge of trying to make it work.

We thank you for your continued support and look forward to an ever-growing and prospering woodturning program.

Chapter News

Local Chapter emails will continue to develop and expand as a tool for the AAW as well as the Local Chapters. You will notice links to current events on the AAW website.

LOCAL CHAPTER MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

Chair Dale Larson called the meeting to order at 9:45 a.m. and introduced the Board of Directors members; Bill Haskell, Cassandra Speier, Tom Wirsing, Jean LeGwin, Frank Amigo, Malcolm Tibbetts, Executive Director Mary Lacer, and AAW Office Administrator Linda Ferber to the Chapter representatives present. Dale explained that the goal is to increase communication between the AAW and its Local Chapters.

Dale provided some interesting facts: The AAW is a growing organization. There are 13,077 members worldwide, 12,248 members in the United States, and 12 new local chapters have been formed so far this year. Symposium attendance for this year is nearly 1,300. There will be approximately 1,000 attendees at the Symposium's banquet this year.

Dale Larson's next topic: Regional Local Chapters and problems communicating with the AAW Board. Ideas included: All 310 Chapter Presidents to have a council to bring questions/issues to the Board. Have Local Chapter Presidents collect local members' information to be passed along to the Board.

Dale asked if there was any interest in having some sort of a Regional Presidents Council, or a Local Chapter Presidents Council to increase communication? There seemed to be good agreement for this idea, however, a member suggested that adding a Presidents Council would create yet another duty for the Chapter Presidents. They'd have to meet at some point, and it's possible that some Presidents can't cover the meeting's travel expenses.

Another idea suggested was to create a forum or blog on the internet to communicate. It could be done on the AAW forum or blog with a moderator and be a virtual organization, not a physical one. That may be the modern way to solve the problem instead of traveling. Telephone conference calls are another option for people who don't like computers.

Dale Larson and the Board were pleased with the Local Chapter input and discussion. Watch for further updates and progress on communications. Dale is working with Ed Davidson, our webmaster, to figure out how to best run the blog with local chapter presidents. The Chapters Presidents meeting agreed that physical meetings of the presidents was physically and financially not do-able. If you have suggestions or comments please contact Dale Larson.

The board set up a committee to work on a survey of the membership. We hope to have it out by the end of this year. It will be a chance to learn about our current members and what they would like to see from AAW.

CALL FOR DEMONSTRATORS

If you or any of your club members are interested in demonstrating at the AAW's 2010 Symposium in Hartford, CT, the application deadline is October 15th. This is the AAW's largest annual event and generally attracts in excess of 1,200 woodturners. Watch for the announcement on the AAW website for complete instructions to submit your application and photos using our FTP site. For more information or assistance, please contact the AAW offices at inquiries@woodturner.org or 651-484-9094.

TEACHING GUIDE

At the last Board meeting Mary Lacer recommended the Teaching Woodturning Basics instruction guide be converted into a PDF and put on the members-only section for current AAW members as a free download. Bill Haskell administered a voice vote. All were in favor. Motion was approved unanimously. The Board agreed that this will be a nice membership benefit. The PDF is now on the website. To access this free download log in with your member information from the home page and select the Downloadable Articles and Resources from the menu on the left. Then select Keyword Search of all Articles, enter Teaching Woodturning Basic and press search. The article will be listed and ready for you to download.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS AAW is developing a marketing plan to cover all aspects of our organization. We are looking for someone with expertise and experience in the marketing field. John Buso is also looking for someone with expertise and experience in the insurance industry to serve on the insurance committee.

Please forward this message on to your Local Chapter members and have them contact Mary Lacer if they are interested in helping AAW promote woodturning.

A message from Jean LeGwin with the AAW

I am asking for your participation in our journal American Woodturner. The journal offers many things packaged neatly between two paper covers: it records our history, showcases our work, discusses techniques and tools for producing our work, offers us projects to improve our skills, and critiques the work of our professionals. It is a large and complex undertaking to try and satisfy our diverse membership.

Our journal is a member driven publication and is dependent on your participation not just as a reader, but also as a contributor. We welcome your input in creating content that represents interests of all segments of the membership. If you do not see the type of articles or work that you think should be included in the journal, please write and let Betty Scarpino or a board member know. Better yet, write an article yourself on a subject that is near and dear to you. If you believe that you are not a writer, partner with someone who can work with you to put your thoughts and ideas on paper. That person may be your spouse, a friend, or another club member. If you have a project that you have developed, or a technique you would like to share, take some step-by-step photos of your process and write a set of instructions that will allow others to do the same. Here is a link that explains what you need to do to provide.

If you have an idea you would like to discuss with Betty before you proceed, she can be reached by clicking here. She will be happy to talk with you about how you might translate your idea into a publishable piece.

Finally, many of us have made a jig to make a task easier, stumbled on a shortcut to speed up production, found interesting storage solutions for tools and other turning paraphernalia, made tools for a particular task, and discovered general tips to help us in our shops and with our turning. You get the idea. Please share those with the rest of us in our Tips section. Send your email tip to John Lucas or by snail mail at or 529 1st Avenue North, Baxter, TN 38544. You may be rewarded with seeing it in print and a check for $35.

Journal Resources

For those of you who are looking for more projects, I'd like to remind you that the AAW has some wonderful project books available with projects for all skill levels. Five books are now available covering the period from 1987–2004. Check out the contents of the individual books through this link

Like a bargain? Have a look at the American Woodturner back issue collection on CD. Every issue of the journal from 1986 to 2006 is available on the three-CD set. They contain an amazing amount of very useful information on tool making, projects of all types, techniques, articles on design, and much, much more. Each CD has a searchable PDF index that let's you find a listing; click on any index entry and the article opens to that page. It makes finding that project you need incredibly easy. Everything is also printable so you can print the pages you need and take out to the shop. At $32 each, you can have all the major articles from American Woodturner at your fingertips. Here's the link for more information.

Call for 2010 Demonstrators Interested in demonstrating at the AAW's 2010 symposium? Watch for announcements in the journal and on the website. The 2010 symposium, to be held in Hartford, CT is the AAW's largest annual event and generally attracts more than 1,000 woodturners. For more information contact the AAW offices at 651-484-9094 or email.

Membership Survey The AAW is considering putting out a survey to the membership. What areas of concern would you like to see addressed in a survey. We can discuss ideas at the membership meeting or email them to Dale Larson.

Chapter Collaborative I would encourage you to think ahead to next year and organize your local chapter members to participate in the Chapter Collaborative turning project for the symposium. It can take time to come up with an idea, draw up the plans and coordinate the turning. The rewards are amazing. It can really bring a local chapter together. The project encourages creativity and comraderie. And you get to vote on the best of the show at the symposium.

Call for Volunteer AAW is developing a marketing plan to cover all aspects of our organization. We are looking for someone with expertise and experience in the marketing field. Please forward this message on to your local chapter members and have them contact Mary Lacer if they are interested in helping AAW promote woodturning.

Gallery of Wood Art

We are currently exhibiting "CODAchrome A Snapshot of Craft in America" which will continue through August 7, 2009. This is a selection of art and fine craft works in many media: fiber, wood, ceramics, jewelry, paper and more. This exhibit celebrates the work being done by the many craft associations, schools, galleries and guilds that provide support, education and exposure to artists.

Learn more at www.codacraft.org

The "Spindles" exhibit is closing and being packed to travel to the Albuquerque symposium where items will be placed in the POP auction. At the symposium "Spirit of the Southwest" will be exhibited. From there it will travel to our Gallery of Wood Art, showing September 14th to December 21st.
